How your support can help

Case Study: Joseph Wright paintings

With support from the Art Fund, Arts Council England/V & A Purchase Fund and the Friends of Macclesfield Silk Heritage, the Museum has been able to purchase two fantastic paintings of local Maxonians by 18th century artist Joseph Wright of Derby.

The paintings are now on display at The Old Sunday School, Macclesfield.

The next challenge is to raise funds to conserve their frames so they can be presented at their very best.

Conservation will cost around £13,000, but with the support of our members, patrons and donors we will be able to preserve this important part of the town's history for the future.
